

Clara's Dropped Waist Dress

Clara's outfit is a beautiful dress from about 1930. The pleats and stripes are classic for this era in fashion design. The dropped waistline was very popular in the 1920s, and continued in popularity a little longer, before empire waistlines returned to vogue. The hat is called a cloche, a style very popular in the 1920s and early 1930s. The shoes are simple, low-heeled shoes with contrasting ribbons.

PAPER DOLLS BY

MELINDA BOWERS

These tabs tuck under the head to hold the hat securely.

