

Clara's 2010 Everyday Clothes

Clara's fashion page for this week is a departure from some of the more historical clothing seen previously. Two simple T-shirts – one with a scoop neck, the other with a v-neck – represent real, everyday clothing worn in 2010. However, the colors and decorations used on the T-shirts create the individual style of the wearer. Flower patterns, extra buttons, lace, solid colors, tie-die, stripes... there are so many ways to decorate a T-shirt. Two styles of pants are also represented by the flare-bottomed jeans and the rolled-cuff capris so popular in the late 2000s and up through 2010 (and perhaps longer).
