

Clara's 1965 Mod Dress

Mod fashion was a new style that came into vogue in the mid 1960s. Mod (short for modernist) was characterized by clean, loose-fitting lines, and geometric shapes. Frilly collars and A-lines silhouettes were also popular in the mod fashion. Bright colors and bold fabric patterns were quite fashionable.

Clara's dress follows the Mod style with a fitted waist, a scalloped collar, and a simple bow for decoration. Simple ballet flats were a versatile choice for footwear. And finally, a very typical sixties-style haircut finishes off Clara's outfit.
